[illegible] injured [illegible] the mob and [illegible] many of the rioters with staves. Then, aided by Indian troops, they arrested the leaders and took them to the Karachi jail.

The injured persons were taken to the hospital where the condition of two of them was reported to be serious.

Those most gravely injured were struck by bullets of the police but stave blows and stones were responsible for the death of one and the injuries to the others.

Dock workers and sweepers went on [illegible] this afternoon in protest against the arrest of six leaders of the all India national congress center in the day.

BOMBAY REPORTS SERIOUS DANGER

By The Associated Press

Three hundred Nationalist volunteers marched from congress house at noon with the deliberate object of raiding the government's salt pans and depots at Wadala, eight miles away.

TARIFF VOTED FOR LEATHER ARTICLES

House Conferees Are Victorious Against Senate Free List Advocates

WASHINGTON, April 16—The house duties on hides, leathers and shoes all now on the free list were agreed upon today by the congressional conferees on the tariff bill.

The rates accepted are 10 percent on hides, 12½ to 30 percent on leathers and 20 percent on shoes.

The senate bill restored all of these commodities to the free list where they have been for years.

By forcing the senate group to recede from the senate action in four times voting down duties on the hide and leather products the house conferees scored their biggest victory since the two groups met to adjust differences between the senate and house over the Hawley-Smoot measure.

The hide, leather and shoe dispute was one of the hardest fought in the senate [illegible].

Four times that body turned down proposals for rates on hides higher than the house duties and for lower duties on shoes.

NO TAX DUE

State Attorney Rules No Money Due from Bequest to Horse.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, April 16—David Tannebaum, state inheritance tax attorney, announced today that no tax would be levied against a bequest of nearly $20,000 to Miss Nora, a horse.

Miss Nora will escape payment of the levy because the state has compiled no life expectancy tables for horses, it was explained.

The mare, a favorite of Josephine Callaghan, armless woman flier killed in an airplane accident near Abilene, Tex., last September, was left the money by the aviatrix. The will specified that Miss Nora should never be worked, ridden or sold as long as she lived.

Federal Chairman Again Urges Reduced Crop Acreage To Help Farm Finances

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—Chairman Legge of the federal farm board today renewed his appeal for a reduced wheat and cotton acreage as a measure of bettering the income of the farmer.

When growers are being urged to reduce their acreage 10 per cent, he said in a radio address, "The purpose is to get production more nearly in line with domestic market requirements so that the [illegible] tariff can be made more effective.

In asking the wheat farmer to reduce his acreage the board is not asking him to reduce his income," he added. "Instead the board confidently believes his income will be improved. If he would get more money for four bushels of wheat than he now gets for five, what is the incentive for raising the extra bushel, exhausting the fertility of the soil and going to the extra labor of raising it, only to have [illegible] reduce his income and not to increase [illegible].

Cotton farmers are being asked to improve the quality of their cotton as well as to limit plantings to 40 million acres compared to 46 million acres in 1929.

He suggested that the farmer restore the [illegible] disappearing woodlot with the surplus acreage from smaller wheat and cotton plantings. "The problem of excess production would be well on the way to solution if five per cent of the present acreage under cultivation on every farm were planted to trees," he predicted.

ADOPT NAVAL PARLEY CLAUSE

Assures Three Big Powers Safety Should Other Nations Start Navy Building

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 16—Prime Minister MacDonald, Secretary Stimson and Reijiro Wakatsuki of Japan today reached an agreement on the safeguarding clause which had been left in abeyance over night to enable the Japanese to study the proposed clause.

The wording of the clause which is designed to protect the three big naval powers in the event that non-signatories should begin a big building program is being cabled to Tokyo by the Japanese delegation.

It is understood that the Japanese also are cabling the treaty text piece by piece to Japan as it is completed in order to expedite the government's approval of it.

See Possible Delay in Signing Treaty

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 16—With passing of the hours it is becoming increasingly uncertain whether the naval treaty which is being evolved here will be ready for signing next Tuesday. Unless it is signed then the American delegation will have to forego their reservations home aboard the Leviathan which cannot wait at Southampton much beyond Wednesday noon.

The drafting committees today were engaged in the last stages of their work and they hope to conclude the groundwork for submitting the completed draft to the five power delegations tomorrow for transmission to the home governments. If quick approval were forthcoming in every case there would be no reason why the conference times might not be written as per schedule.

The situation with reference to Japan creates considerable doubt that this will be the case however. If the Tokyo government should debate in [illegible] oriental manner—as it did on the Reed-Matsudaira compromise—one of the terms of the treaty a delay of some length might intervene before approval was given and the final signing ceremony held.

There is too the necessity of the transmitting the draft form to Tokyo in Romaji or anglicized Japanese in which the words are long and such that each letter must be tapped out separately instead of coding and contracting as is done with European language messages. It was estimated it would take many hours to trans-

Housecleaning plans for the city of Marion will be laid this afternoon when Mayor I. Don Jones calls a cleanup campaign committee meeting in municipal court room at 4 o'clock.

Following are members of the committee: C. M. Tobin, Police Chief J. W. Thompson, Fire Chief T. J. McFarland, the Rev. James M. Fisher, the Rev. E. Redebaugh, the Rev. Father William J. TYPHOID FEVER CLAIMS TWO

Epidemic of Dread Disease Strikes Ohio Village; First Baffled Doctors

By The Associated Press

BRUNSWICK, O., April 16—The first two fatalities in the typhoid fever epidemic here were listed today. The victims are Mrs. Howard Widdifield, 24, and Mrs. Conrad Gieber, 26. More than 20 others are sick.

Mrs. Widdifield was the mother of a five-months old baby and Mrs. Gieber was the mother of three small children who are among the many sufferers from the disease.

The epidemic for a time baffled medical authorities because of certain strange symptoms. The disease has been definitely established as typhoid however according to County Health Commissioner R. I. Mansell of Medina county.

The source of the disease according to Dr. Mansell has been traced to the village's milk supply. Tests have shown impurities, he claimed.

Thieves Wreck Hopes

Rob Cripple of Money Saved To Purchase Artificial Hand

LANCASTER, April 16—The dream of a year and a half that he might have his hand which was shot off during a hunting accident replaced with an artificial one was shattered for John Kocher, aged 30, today when two of the "world's meanest" thieves held up and robbed him of his savings of $115 and then beat him into unconsciousness.

Kocher had thumbed a ride towards Columbus with two men in an automobile. When they had proceeded to the Rush school house, a short distance from Lancaster, one of the men poked a gun into Kocher's ribs while the second robbed him of $118 and his overcoat. Then the crippled man was beaten unconscious and was thrown out of the machine. He was not seriously hurt, however.

The man's wrist and hand were shot away in a hunting accident about 18 months ago and he had been saving money since that time for the purchase of an artificial appendage. He had just obtained enough money for the realization of his dream and was forced to "thumb" his way towards Columbus because the money which he had was just the amount for the artificial hand.

CHAPTER HEAD RESIGNS POST

Miss Margaret Dowd Tenders Resignation As Executive Secretary of Red Cross.

TO BE EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

Plans To Enter Other Fields of Activity After Leaving Position Here.

The resignation of Miss Margaret Dowd as executive secretary of the Marion Red Cross chapter was tendered at an executive board meeting last night in Red Cross headquarters, Uhler-Phillips building. June 1, 1930 was set as the date for the resignation to become effective.

No reason was given by Miss Dowd for resigning her position here except that she plans to enter other fields of activity. Miss Dowd has served as executive secretary for the past year and a half. In the past winter Red Cross took an active part in the relief of hunger and cold in Marion and Miss Dowd was in command of the Red Cross forces here.

Name Committee

Mrs. Loring K. Warner, Mrs. Walter A. Miley, Miss Alice Hane and C. W. Kramer were appointed a committee to act upon the resignation and if possible to come to an agreement upon a leave of absence for Miss Dowd. Action of the committee will be announced later.

An extensive and interesting report was given by Miss Florence Spaulding, nursing supervisor under the new city and county health administration and Red Cross. Miss Spaulding is working directly with Dr. N. Sifritt, head of the city and county health district.

Miss Esther Tress, school nutritionist, gave a comprehensive report on the Health Day parade to be held in May in which all boys and girls in the grade schools who have shown health improvement during her work here as supervisor may take part. This parade will be one of the big events in the school year for the elementary school boys and girls.

Miss Dowd spoke on the National Red Cross meeting in Washington, D. C., early in May. The next meeting of the board will be held May 13.

WASHINGTON, April 16—An attack upon the proposal that the United States join the world court was made today by Mrs. Charles Brand of Urbana, O., flag committee chairman, in a report to the congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Only Monday night the delegates listened to an address by President Hoover in which he advocated American entry into the court.

The report by Mrs. Brand also urged against involvement by the United States in the tangle of European politics by way of the League of Nations "or any pact designed to get us involved in European diplomacy or in European offensive or defensive operations."

SAYS LEAGUE WORKS TO GET WET CONGRESS

Curran Tells Lobby Committee of Political Activities of Anti-Dry Association

100 WORKERS ON PAYROLL

Supports Congressional Candidates Favoring Prohibition Repeal.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—Up[illegible] the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment Henry H. Curran, its president, testified today to the senate [illegible] [illegible] one [illegible] [illegible] was to advocate [illegible] men favoring repeal of the dry laws.

Curran said his own employment with the association [illegible] he had been counsel for the City of New York.

Contending that three out of four persons in the United States were in revolt against prohibition Curran testified that his organization had spent $4[illegible] 219 last year in working for repeal of the dry laws.

Part of the money was used, he added, in working for a candidate in the recent primary in western Massachusetts and at the present time the organization is advocating the election of three candidates for office in Pennsylvania.

Undecided in Illinois

He said it had not been decided whether the association would participate in the Illinois senatorial election in which Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican dry, and James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic wet, are the competing candidates.

Testifying in an even tone for the most part Mr. Curran predicted that prohibition would be repealed and denied that his organization had engaged in lobbying activities.

He was directed to reappear again tomorrow for further questioning.

The witness said the organization supported congressional candidates favoring repeal which it wanted to bring about in order to restore to the states the right to regulate the liquor traffic. Campaigns were also conducted through newspaper releases and radio, he said.

100 Employes

Curran testified one hundred persons are employed by the association in 12 offices. He placed his salary at $25,000 a year and expenses.

William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of directors of the association receives $10,000.

Thomas Caraway asked Curran whether negroes were eligible for membership.

"Certainly," he replied.

"Keep those words in your mouth," Curran said, "don't put them in mine."

Curran said there were [illegible] members of the board of directors and 1,000 were eligible for membership.

Curran said the annual salary of the persons employed regularly by the association was $2[illegible]1,484.

"Then $275,000 a year would cover the salaries," Caraway asked.

"Yes easily," Curran replied.

Rent Bill High

The witness said $23,760 a year was paid for rent.

Questioned by Caraway about an item of $33,050 for traveling expenses Curran said the association had 12 persons traveling in foreign countries to investigate methods of liquor control.

The anti-prohibition activities of Curran's organization recently came under the scrutiny of the lobby committee through testimony of John J.

SCHOOL-CITY CONTROVERSY DELAYS WORK

Sewer Line Cause of Dispute Between Board of Education and Marion Council.

NEW BUILDING AFFECTED

City Officials Refuse To Pay Difference In Cost of 12- and 15-Inch Line.

Possibility that controversy between the board of education and city council over the construction of a storm water sewer in Indiana av. to give drainage to the new Indiana av. grade school building may seriously impede the construction and opening of that school was pointed out this morning by Supt. George A. Bowman.

"Failure to complete the sewer within a short time could easily be a serious delay to construction of the building and certainly would hinder the school opening," Superintendent Bowman said.

Construction of the sewer line was undertaken by school authorities in order to prevent the delay of having it done by the city, Mr. Bowman said. City officials were asked several months ago to provide for the construction of the sewer line which properly should be done by the city instead of the school but no action was taken at the time.

A 400-foot storm water line is necessary to connect the school building with the present city sewer line. A 12-inch line would more than handle the storm water of the building but council asked school authorities to increase the size to 15 inches, to drain any future buildings along the line of the sewer.

Since the city should have built the line in the first place, school authorities feel they should not pay for any more than the 12-inch line, which would handle the storm water of the building. Council has refused to pay the difference of cost in the two sewers or permit contractors to build the 12-inch line.

When school contractors started construction of the 12-inch line last week city officials ordered the work stopped. Already 100 feet of 12-inch sewer tile have been laid.

Schools of Marion will not be officially ordered by George A Bowman superintendent to take part in Arbor Day exercises but in the past some observation of this day has been made in nearly all classes in the school system

In part Governor Cooper said in his proclamation

The conservation of bird life and the encouragement of tree planting has become more than a mere sentiment—it is an economic necessity Decimation of bird life has left us defenseless from the insect pests that threaten the farm crops and orchards Denuding of forest areas has brought alternate floods and droughts and has brought our timber supply near the vanishing point

Arbor and Bird Day lessons properly taught and learned mean not only finer and more sympathetic natures for our children but more liberal food supplies and cheaper building materials for the homes of generations to come They mean deeper appreciation of the utility and beauty of trees and birds and buds and blossoms and song and give a new and finer significance to the forest foliage that protects our homes adorns our landscapes and clothes in regal splendor the slopes of our everlasting hills

"Therefore I Myers Y Cooper Governor of Ohio do hereby proclaim and set apart Friday April 25 as Arbor and Bird Day and do urge upon all in authority in the schools of Ohio the obligation of observing the day with suitable programs in spirit as well as in the letter of the law "

1 Greater Ice Capacity—De luxe models provide more ice, size for size, than any other refrigerator, with capacities from 20 pounds in the smallest size to 34 pounds in the largest—at a single freezing.

2 Automatic Super-Fast freezing—for the extra-fast freezing of ice cubes and desserts. Merely placing a tray of water or dessert in a special fast-freezing compartment starts the quick freezing operation which stops automatically.

3 Automatic Cold Storage—For storing fresh or frozen meats, fish, game and those new frozen delicacies you now find at many markets. Cold always below freezing. Exclusive to Kelvinator.

4 Automatic 40° to 50° Food Compartment—Food compartments of Kelvinator are maintained between 40° and 50°—the temperature range which science says is correct for dependable and healthful preservation of foods.

Kelvinator now actually doubles the convenience and usefulness of electric refrigeration in the home

KELVINATOR now presents in its de luxe models, four distinct temperatures—each designed for a specific task of refrigeration. From first to last the new Kelvinators are entirely automatic—nothing for the housewife to regulate, nothing to trouble her memory.

In combination with these new automatic features, it retains the Kelvinator Cold-Keeper—a quality feature of the first Kelvinator, which has always been one of its great economy factors.

Acting as a constant reservoir of cold, this equipment cuts down the number of operating periods fully one-third.

See the new Super-Automatic Kelvinators, note the wide margin by which they increase Kelvinator's reputation for reliable, wholly automatic service.

You need not delay your enjoyment of Kelvinator's new automatic features a day longer. A small sum down with easy monthly payments installs a Kelvinator in your home. Let us tell you about Kelvinator's attractive ReDiCo monthly budget plan.

Wednesday of Holy Week Marked by Solemn Rites

By the Associated Press

ROME, April 16—A solemn procession in the Church of St. Mary Major, otherwise known as the Liberian Basilica, th[illegible] ushered in the ceremonies attendant on Rome's observance of the Wednesday of Holy Week. In mournful cadences the chanting priests recounted the story of the [illegible] as told in the gospel of St. Luke, preceded by two lessons taken from the prophet Isaiah foretelling the sacrifice of Christ.

The afternoon was marked by the singing of the office of Tenebrae, so-called in remembrance of the darkness said to have spread over all the earth at the moment of Christ's death on the cross.

Universal Candle Service

As in all Catholic churches throughout the world there was a ceremony of gradual extinction of all but the last of the 15 candles, placed on a triangular [illegible] to the left of the altar.

The last candle, which is also the highest, was carried to the church sacristy at the conclusion of the service. The other 14 represent the 12 apostles, the Blessed Virgin and St. Mary Magdalene and the extinguishing symbolizes the desertion of the apostles when Christ was surprised by the soldiers in the Garden of Gethsemane.

The ceremony was everywhere accompanied by the chant of psalms and hymns, the musical program in St. Peter's being particularly well rendered. It included a "Lamentation" four voices by Palestrina and after the "Benedictus" the "Miserere" with alternating verses of unusual beauty.

Relics Displayed

Thereafter there were displayed in St. Peter's the so-called relics of the Passion—what are believed to be centurion's lance that pierced the side of Christ, a piece of wood of the true cross and the veil or napkin of St. Veronica, with which Christ wiped his face on his way to Golgotha. A large crowd of pious Romans, [illegible] in the Vatican [illegible]

THEME FOR THE WEEK

"Coming to Terms with Ultimate Things."

WEDNESDAY

"Accepting the Years"

SCRIPTURE Memory Verse: "That we may rejoice and be glad all our days" (Psalm 90 14).

Read, Psalm 90 10-17.

MEDITATION. It is easy to rejoice and be glad in youth. It is not so easy as one's age comes stealthily upon one. There is a common reluctance to face age. This attitude is designed to destroy the joy that age should bring. The wiser way is to accept age when it comes and find its joys. Each period of life has its own satisfactions to bring and its own contributions to make. There are greater activities than physical ones. To grow old gracefully is a sign of the youthful spirit, for that spirit is one of hopefulness. The best way to keep young both in feeling and appearance, is to believe in the peculiar value of each successive period of life as it comes, and to look for it.

PRAYER. O God of the seasons, Thou giver of days and years, we witness Thy providence in the coming of ever marvelous times in the hurrying calendar of our lives. For the fruits and colors of our own autumn days accept our thanks and may there be no sadness in our hearts at the departure of our spring and summer. Amen—Adapted.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, April 16

THE astrological auguries for this day may not be interpreted as entirely propitious. While there is a sign forecasting a sudden change of environment and interests with many prospects for advantageous contacts and larger opportunities, yet there is a figure read as perilous to new projects and holding danger to current employment. However the mind may be sharp and shrewd so affairs judiciously handled may redound to decided benefit. Elders may assist substantially.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of unforeseen change with good prospects for enlarged opportunities despite some hazards to new projects and to the employment. Judiciously handled all may prosper and invite the assistance of elderly persons or institutions as recognition for industry and fidelity. A child born on this day should be well equipped mentally for attaining substantial position in life. It may be shrewd, profound, original and have strong leanings to the scientific and inventive. It may attract the support of elderly persons and institutions.

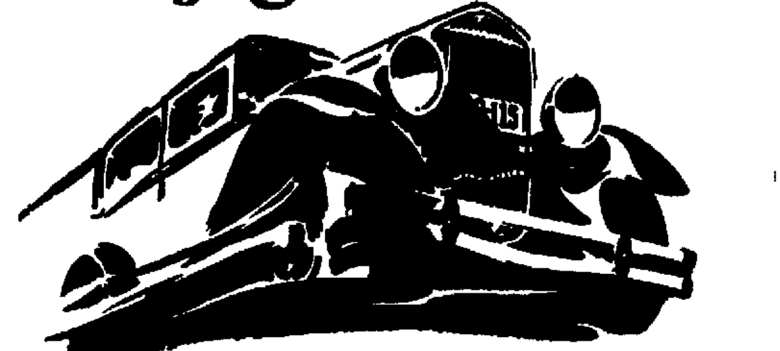
Smashing Proof ... of greatest value



As established in Continent-wide tests, by 5,000 New Essex Challengers

All motordom saw the amazing results of Challenger Week. The New Essex Challenger set outstanding marks in every locality. It climbed hills seldom attempted by any car. It set new marks for acceleration. It established economy results never before associated with such performance. It made inter-city reliability and endurance runs that take place with the industry's great marks.

The really important thing is that equally fine marks were made by Essex right here in this locality. And you will find the same true no matter what city or community you visit. For these feats were established—not by just a few hand-picked specially tuned cars—but 5,000 Essex Challengers in all parts of the country, many of them owner-driven. Results speak for what every New Essex can do.

We continue our invitation to Ride—Ride—Ride! Know from personal experience what this brilliant New Essex Challenger can do. Then no lesser car can satisfy.

Protection to Corespondents.

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath of Chicago this week delivered a blow at a vicious practice by insisting that the attorneys of the defendant in a divorce proceeding up before him for hearing amend a pleading by eliminating therefrom the names of four parties named as corespondents His action is said to have been unique in the court procedure of Illinois

The plaintiff a Chicago woman filed a petition for divorce, charging cruelty In his answer and cross petition the defendant husband named four men all married and mutual friends of the plaintiff and defendant and all prominent in the business circles of the city taking advantage of the fact that the Illinois law does not permit a corespondent to intervene in a case in which he is thus named to protect his name nor can he bring an action for libel because the charge against him is made in a privileged document

But two attorneys, who are authorities on the laws of divorce, appeared before the court and charged that the defendant had taken unfair advantage of the protection afforded him, setting out that he had had copies of his answer and cross petition printed and distributed among friends and employes to cast disrepute upon the four men named They asked that Judge Sabath sit as a magistrate and determine the weight of the charges against the men named It was argued that the allegations were weak and unjust accusations of men who had no legal remedy and doubt was expressed that the defendant would attempt to prove his charges

The court is most interested in your plea the judge said I should like to have it tested in the supreme court I have been advocating this reform in the interests of those who are innocent of wrong and have no way to get recourse But at present I can only ask that the bill be amended and the names be struck

The defendant s attorney realizing that refusal would prejudice his client s case bowed to the will of the court and the names were stricken out

While the protection of men and women thus assailed in divorce proceedings may be rare, no doubt reputations of thousands of innocent persons have been thus besmirched in divorce proceedings There has been case after case in which persons have been named as corespondents and not the slightest effort subsequently made to establish the charges made against them There have been cases of this kind here in Ohio and we recall one here at home in which a plaintiff wife was given a decree against her defendant husband solely because he named a corespondent in his cross petition and made no attempt to sustain the charge the court holding that the defendant s course in this respect constituted extreme cruelty and entitled her to a divorce decree And to what greater extreme could cruelty be carried?

There should be as the Chicago judge suggested legal reform in the interest of those who are innocent of wrong and have no legal recourse.

A Real Tax Burden.

London cables told us yesterday that financial and commercial England breathed a sigh of relief when Philip Snowden the hard-shelled British chancellor of the exchequer, announced his budget for the coming year and it disclosed nothing to justify the rumors which had been current for weeks that he was planning all sorts of raids on the rich It was found to be on orthodox finance lines one cable read There is not a single new tax and the only increases are laid on those able to bear them

Chancellor Snowden figured the revenues for the coming year on existing taxes at $3 593 875 000 and the expenditures including the meeting of a deficit of $704 0 000 inherited by him from his predecessor at $2 799 278 740 Thus his problem was to raise an additional $20 403 740 in revenue essential to the balancing of his budget He met it by a number of changes in the tax rates outstanding among them being an increase of six pence on the pound twelve cents on $4 86—making the standard rate four shillings and six pence on the pound—in our money $1 08 on $4 86—or twenty two and a half per cent tempering it somewhat to those of small incomes by making the rate two shillings and six pence—sixty cents—on the first £250 of income This he figures will raise an additional $116 640 000

Two other major increases are on death taxes and super taxes Estates exceeding $10 000 000 in value will now be taxed fifty per cent instead of forty as at present While the super tax will begin to operate at £2 000 as at present the tax will be increased from nine pence to a shilling on the pound—from eighteen to twenty four cents—which the chancellor figures will produce $10 700 000 in extra revenue And then possibly to show that he isn t playing any favorites that the poor as well as the rich and middle class must help bear the added budget he boosts the tax on beer to seventy five cents on the barrel which will mean an extra cent on the pint to the consumer

We have not given the figures here because of a belief that readers are intensely concerned in the tax burden of Englishmen but that they may compare the burden of the English taxpayers with their own All of us are prone to feel that we are overtaxed that we are bearing a burden for the cost of government we are receiving which is far more than we should be asked to bear What would we think what would be the measure of our complaint our resentment were we asked to pay such taxes as the English are paying and will have to continue to pay for years to come? As a matter of fact the majority of us do not know by experience the meaning of a real tax burden The knowledge may come to us however, here in Ohio There is a trend which if it continues much longer bids fair to educate us in this regard and our education will be considerably advanced if a state income tax which is being seriously discussed is added to the taxes on realty and personalty we already bear

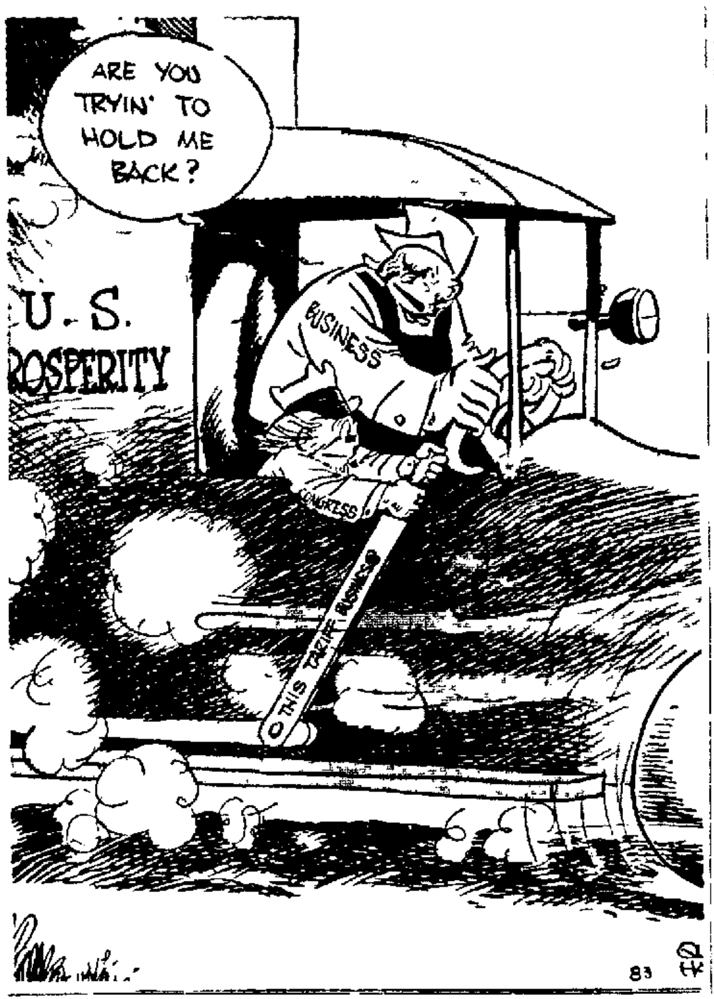
PLAYING WITH THE BRAKE.



Play and Laughter.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Since the beginning of time man has been thinking of his ills and what is good for him Yet there are persons today who don t know how to play or to laugh except on rare occasions

Such a person may say that play is a waste of time He may think he hasn t time to throw away on it This is a great mistake

Both body and mind are greatly helped by joyous play and a good laugh A normal person turns instinctively to play Just so long as men and women love play and embrace every opportunity to play old age will be left behind

There isn t the slightest doubt that play fun and laughter are agents of health The nerves are soothed by them digestion is promoted by them the circulation of the blood is quickened and stimulated The heart is made stronger

Every kind of laughter from a giggle to a loud haw haw has a favorite effect on the one who laughs said Dr Frederick D Stricker secretary of the Oregon state board of health in a recent discussion of the subject He says that one of the most favorable influences exerted on the heart when a person is depressed is wholehearted laughter

It is easily understandable that one s mental outlook is distinctly helped by play and laughter But Dr Stricker points out reasons why there are body benefits to be derived from laughter, as well

He explains that the up and down movements of the diaphragm in laughter cause a direct massage of the heart This stimulates its activity

He explains also its effect on the lungs The jerky movements of the diaphragm in hearty laughter cause the air within the lungs to be brought to a somewhat higher pressure than usual This reacts upon the heart and helps to stimulate it More oxygen reaches the blood in laughing and this too has its beneficial effects.

You know how you feel when you are depressed All the world looks dark and everything seems hopeless Now is the time to drop what you are doing if you can Go to the theater and see the funniest play you can find Or get out of doors for a good game of golf or some other form of play Have a good time and forget your troubles Have a good hearty laugh and you will soon find your mental outlook to be changed Although you may not know it your very health is changed for the better

Children from the time they can walk and talk instinctively turn to play They are never still They find joy in play and have bodily exercise at the same time In this matter they offer a good lesson to grown ups

When you are at play that part of your brain used in your daily business and work is in repose It is preparing itself for tomorrow s work Other parts of your brain are now active and your whole body is being charged with new vigor

Don t be afraid to spend some time in play and laughter Have real fun as often as you can find it Take time to keep happy and well You will keep young along with youth and life will have more zest for you and for those with whom you come in contact

Editorial Opinion.

JUDICIAL CONFIRMATIONS

The character of the opposition to confirmation of the appointment of Judge John J Parker to the supreme court of the United States is quite as instructive as the character of the opposition to Chief Justice Hughes was

The threatening fight against the elevation of Judge Parker is not based on doubt about his character as a man or his general qualifications as a judge It is political factional and prejudiced and for the most part grows out of the fact that in performing his duties in the lower court the judge has rendered decisions in accordance with his understanding of law and justice instead of trying to curry favor with the American Federation of Labor or with members of the negro race or with any other special interest or division of the population It is reported that some of the senators are weak kneed and are trying to get President Hoover to withdraw the nomination of Mr Parker and even are prepared to vote against his confirmation because they are afraid of political consequences if they do otherwise

The embarrassment of the senators is directly their own fault They did a silly thing when they discarded the custom of confirming presidential nominations in secret executive sessions The body as a whole invited trouble for itself and played directly into the hands of the relatively small, but exceedingly active and vociferous, demagogic contingent when it made this change from tried and historic procedure It did worse than that

Under the new rule the only candidates for high judicial place likely to get the senate O K without being attacked and pulled to pieces more or less, will be men who have succeeded in making themselves all things to all people and if already on the bench, have uniformly rendered decisions acceptable to everybody or at least always acceptable to interested organized sentiment

Since there are extremely few people in the world able to please everybody at all times and none such fit to preside over even the lowest court confirmations to the supreme bench are likely to take on more and more the character of a cat and dog fight as the years pass with good men becoming more and more reluctant to accept nominations, unless of course the senate has enough sense to restore the closed executive session —Detroit Free Press

REGRETTABLE DELAY

Since March 24 work on the Carew tower has been held up by a jurisdictional squabble between labor groups in New York On that date steel setters working on Starrett projects in Cincinnati and other cities were called out by an order from St Louis promulgated by the International Order of Iron Workers in sympathy with steel workers engaged in building the Empire building in New York City where the disagreement arose So far former Governor Alfred F Smith president of the Empire Building company acting as arbitrator has been unable to compose the more-or less opportunistic difficulties

Meanwhile Cincinnati s greatest building project falls behind schedule Steel workers assembled here have been idle for three weeks and are enforcing idleness on artisans in other trades and swelling the unemployment rolls for which no one is to blame but the dictators of the Iron Workers union The huge capital tied up in the enterprise is subject to interest charges without progress toward the day of return This in spite of the fact that steel work on the Carew tower is far short of the point at which the New York dispute arose

At the time the sympathy walk-out was ordered it was agreed that conditions on the Cincinnati job were perfectly satisfactory to workers and employers Today thanks to a dispute wholly between unions and which has no point should touch Starrett construction here they are far from satisfactory to either Idle workers who could be working idle capital and totally unwarranted delay in completing a project affecting many Cincinnati industrial and retail interests are results of a short sighted and belligerent policy for which the Cincinnati development without cause is being made to pay —Cincinnati Enquirer

The Ninth Planet.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

Although many astronomers have believed in the existence of one or several transneptunian planets the late Percival Lowell actually predicted the discovery of such a planet in a region of the sky which he plotted with no little accuracy So complicated were the calculations so meager the data that Lowell was not able to arrive at results of entire exactitude But the figures he gave in his famous memoir of 1915 have guided the astronomers at Flagstaff Arizona ever since Lowell s death in an unremitting search for the elusive planet

It must be remembered that Le Verrier predicted the location of the Neptune a a certain region of the sky But there were certain discrepancies in his calculations with the result that Neptune was actually found to be two minutes off position As Lowell himself said regarding the good luck in Le Verrier s case The explanation would seem to lie in the nearness of Neptune and the near circularity of its orbit Neptune turns out to have been most complaisant and to have assisted materially to its own detection

Twenty five years ago Lowell began to make his investigations regarding a transneptunian planet He was doubtless spurred on by the prophecy of Le Verrier who with the insight of genius foresaw the existence of other major planets beyond Neptune In 1910 Lowell stated to Professor Philip Fox now director of the Adler planetarium at Chicago, that his computations indicated the presence of a body beyond Neptune This was surmised to be the case because Neptune had not moved in accordance with the perturbation Something must be holding it back This was surmised by Lowell to be a transneptunian body of strong gravitational attraction

In his extended memoir published in 1915 Lowell gave the following data regarding the supposed new planet

Mean longitude of epoch around 0 degrees epoch 22 1 degrees semi axis 43 0 mass 1 00, eccentricity 202 place of perihelion 203 8 degrees heliocentric longitude July 0 1914—84 0 degrees mean longitude of epoch around 180 degrees epoch 205 0 degrees semi axis 44 7 mass 1 14 eccentricity 195 place of perihelion 19 6 degrees heliocentric longitude July 0 1914—262 8 degrees, the unit of mass being one 50 000th the mass of the sun

It indicates for the unknown a mass between Neptune s and the earth s, a visibility of 12 13 magnitude according to albedo and a disk of more than one second in diameter

From the analogy of the other members of the solar family in which eccentricity and inclination are closely correlated the inclination of its orbit to the plane of the ecliptic should be about ten degrees This renders it more difficult to find — Copyright 1930 International Feature Service Inc

Witness in Trial Fears Assassination Similar to Fate of District Attorney.

By the Associated Press

MAUSTON, Wis., April 16—Fear of assassination such as befell District Attorney Clinton G. Price of Juneau county has prompted Frank Schultz of New Richmond, Wis., to demand police protection. In demanding a guard for his home, Schultz said he, like Price, had received threats against his life.

Lyall T. Wright, ousted "hot sheriff" of Juneau county, is held in jail accused of slaying Price. Last Friday Wright was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment in connection with the same conspiracy case. The charge was the result of finding a huge still on the Schultz farm.

POLICE ARREST TWO IN MURDER MYSTERY

Washington Authorities Refuse To Disclose Identity of Either Suspect.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—Two suspects, one arrested in Washington and the other taken from a freight train in Maryland, were under investigation today in the efforts of the police to solve the mystery of the death of Mary Baker, 30 year old government employe.

The authorities kept the identity of both a secret, but disclosed that the arrest in the city came about as the result of information obtained from Miss Baker's friends as to those with whom she had been in company shortly before her death.

Miss Baker's body, bruised and pierced by bullets was found on Saturday, stuffed into a culvert near one of the entrances to the Arlington national cemetery. Several hours before, her automobile had been found, streaked with blood, some distance away.

The arrest of the suspect in Washington was followed, the police said, by the discovery of a blood-stained shirt in a suitcase believed to have been his property. The police expected to submit him to a rigorous cross-examination, requiring a detailed explanation of the shirt and an account of his movements on Friday night.

The man arrested in Maryland was held overnight at an unrevealed place. The arrest was announced as having taken place "north of Baltimore," but a checkup of jails in that vicinity failed to disclose his whereabouts.

After he bites his body is snipped off and the head with its death grip on the skin remains till the wound is healed.

FIVE ANSWER CALL AT REVIVAL SERVICE

Tonight Rev. George Will Preach on "What Is Sin Against Holy Ghost?"

The Rev. W. Martell George, pastor of Wesley M. E. church preached last night on "What Shall I Do To Be Saved?" This was one of a series of revival sermons which the minister is preaching. Last night there were five who confessed their faith and went forward to the altar.

The Rev. Mr. George said in his sermon: Our eternal destiny and our salvation depends on our attitude towards Jesus Christ. He has amply prepared our salvation for us but it is up to us whether we want to accept Him.

"Paul said, 'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and ye shall be saved,' but it isn't enough to believe that Jesus Christ is, or that he was the best man that ever walked upon the earth. We have to believe about Jesus as Jesus would believe. Many people believe in the forgiveness of sin and of Jesus' resurrection and yet they are not saved.

"Jesus knew that people could not get back to Jesus Christ on their own strength and he said that if we confess our sins, we will be saved."

Tonight the sermon will be on "What Is the Sin Against the Holy Ghost?" Miss Martha Smallwood will sing a solo and Howard Orr and Walter Cluff will be heard in a vocal duet. Large delegations from several classes are expected to attend the services tonight.

HOME BREW TEST CASE SCHEDULED

Right of Citizen To Have Own Beverage Will Be Decided In Ohio Court.

By The Associated Press

NEW LEXINGTON, April 16—The status of so-called "home-brew" when made and kept for private consumption is to be tested in court April 24.

Ray Hilliard, of Junction City, is to be the defendant in the test case. Hilliard was arrested a few days ago by dry officers who alleged they found 200 bottles of home-brew in a raid on Hilliard's home.

When arraigned, Hilliard pleaded not guilty, claiming the possession of home-made beverages without proof of trafficking was not in violation of the law. He said none had been sold and that he only kept it for home consumption and for entertainment of friends.

Prosecutor E. C. Wagner will ask conviction on the ground that the giving away of beer made for private use constitutes trafficking.

Hilliard is at liberty under $100 bond.

GANGSTER MUST DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Ohio Supreme Court Rules That Sentence Shall Be Carried Out April 25.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 16—John Richardson, Cleveland gangster, must die in the electric chair for the slaying Sept. 15, 1929, of Steve Pierson, Akron waiter, the state supreme court ruled today in denying his application for a review of his conviction in Summit county courts. Richardson is under sentence to be electrocuted April 25.

He was convicted in Summit county courts and was sentenced to the death chair March 21 but the appellate court granted a stay of execution to April 4 while it was reviewing the case. Supreme court stayed the execution until April 25 after Richardson filed his appeal.

Pierson, a waiter in the Three Mile inn near Akron, was shot down by Richardson during a holdup. The waiter had attempted to object to treatment of several women patrons of the inn by one of a trio of robbers when he was wounded fatally.

Patrons of the inn were lined up along the wall by the robbers who started searching them for valuables. After the shooting of Pierson the three men fled towards Cleveland but were apprehended at Shaker Heights village when their automobile was wrecked.

TAKE UP NEW COURT PLAN

Members of House Committee Consider Adding 18 to U. S. Judge List.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—The Bachmann plan for relieving court congestion by appointing 18 additional federal judges was taken up today by the house judiciary committee as a substitute for the proposals of the Wickersham law enforcement commission.

The program was drafted after several months' consideration had brought a disagreement on the commission's recommendation that court relief be accomplished by permitting United States commissioners to hold juryless trials of minor offenders. There have been intimations that it meets the approval of both the wets and drys.

For each judicial district affected, a separate bill has been prepared, and Chairman Graham of the committee was hopeful that a majority of them would be approved as a means of relieving congestion where it is particularly acute. Representative Bachmann, Republican, West Virginia, made a study of the question at Graham's request.

The committee also planned to reconsider the Stobbs bill to modify the Jones law, by defining minor offenses and fixing their maximum penalties at six months in jail and $500 fine.

"Jacqueline On Her Own"

DRAMATIC STORY OF ACTION, ROMANCE AND ADVENTURE

BY RICHARD STARR

(Copyright 1930, by the Author)

CHAPTER 19

Jacqueline Frowns

JACQUELINE was worried. Her usual light heartedness was gone. Instead she was white faced and desperate.

From the well of experience with the British defenders of the law Teddy strove to dissipate her fears. Jacqueline realized that she had been foolish to flee but rejected Teddy's suggestion that she make a call upon Scotland yard. That she could not do, she felt, because of her past, which she did not reveal to Teddy.

"Listen, Mr. Montrose," she said steadily. "When I tell you that I did not steal those diamonds, and that I had nothing whatever to do with the theft and know nothing whatever about it—do you believe me?"

"Well, I should think I do," replied Teddy. "Believe you—why I will take anything you tell me against anything anybody else says, and believe it till the bottom drops out of the world and all the water spills out of the seas. Why you know that, surely?"

"Thank you, Mr. Montrose." Jacqueline's voice was rather subdued. "You can believe it because it is the truth. But if I allow the police to go poking about into my past, they will take that—my past I mean—as strong evidence against me. I'd like to make you understand, Mr. Montrose, if I can. I mean if there is anything in my past which I am not prepared to be perfectly candid about at this particular moment, it is not anything so very discreditable. Now I will go back to the Majestic, please."

"You needn't have told me that," replied Teddy quietly, with a look in his eyes which she liked. "I know perfectly well that there is nothing about your past that is to your discredit. I have known it from the first moment I saw you. Also I don't want to know anything about you that you don't want to tell me. I can see all I want to know about you—in your eyes."

"Thank you again, Mr. Montrose. You are very generous to me."

"Not generosity at all," replied Teddy. "Plain horse sense the way I look at it. But you were going to tell me something about the mystery."

"Oh, yes. I have been worried about it. The lady who took me to Ciro's, a Mrs. Porter Mason, didn't come back to the hotel last night. Of course I lost her in the darkness and confusion—that was before I climbed out of the window. Do you think she could have been locked up?"

Teddy frowned with the effort of thought. "Who is this lady?"

Jacqueline explained how she had become acquainted.

"Not so good," he muttered. "Not so good. You've got to be careful how you pick up with strange people in hotels like the Majestic."

"Help! But I thought the Majestic was one of the best and most stylish hotels in London?"

"Most stylish, perhaps, but not the most swagger and expensive, but it best. Oh, no. It may be one of the hasn't the reputation of being exclusive. Anybody can go there if they've got the money, and that makes the company a bit mixed sometimes."

"Oh, but I'm sure Mrs. Porter Mason is quite nice. She seems a perfect lady to me, and I am frightfully worried. I can't think what can have become of her. I thought you might be able to help me perhaps."

"I'm out of my depths," confessed Teddy. "So far as I know no one was arrested. If Mrs. Mason didn't arrive home, I should say something must have happened between the night club and the Majestic, so to speak. When did you see Mrs. Mason last?"

"Just as the raid started," returned Jacqueline. "She was by my side just after the lights went out. She told me to hold her fan a minute while she went to find out what was the matter. She went away and did not come back. Or at least I did not wait for her."

"What did you do exactly?"

"I got frightened—fearfully frightened when the police began banging at the doors and I heard the people shouting all round that it was a raid. A lot of the women screamed, so I thought it meant something dreadful was going to happen."

"They only screamed from excitement," replied Teddy. "I bet most of them were as pleased as punch to be in it, except those who were there with the wrong husbands."

"I thought," continued Jacqueline, "that I had done something horribly wrong in coming to the place. You see I had never been to a night club before, and I had always heard them spoken of as rather wicked places. That's why I wanted to go.

"Well, I stood there for some time in the darkness, and the noise seemed to grow worse. Then I suddenly realized that I was standing all alone. The people who had been round about me had moved away, and I saw a window near me. I pushed the window up and crawled out. I found myself on a narrow ledge, and I pushed the window down behind me. That is all I can tell you. You know the rest. I crawled along that ledge, and once I looked down. It was rather dreadful. I turned quite sick and thought I was going to faint, but I didn't. I came to that iron staircase and found some windows and pushed them open. Then I found—you. That is everything. I expected Mrs. Porter Mason to come back to the hotel last night, but she has not returned yet."

"What about the man?" asked Teddy.

"Oh, I'm not worried about him because I don't know anything about him. He is a Mr. Arthur Carew, an American. I met him yesterday for the first time. He was in the cab when the raid occurred, at least I think so, but he was not with me and Mrs. Mason at the moment."

There seemed nothing they could do about it, and they parted again somewhat reluctantly in the Majestic lobby where people sat about.

Jacqueline was almost in a state of panic because she felt that everybody would recognise in her the woman whose description was broadcast by the newspapers.

As she made her way to the clerk's desk she regained some of her courage. After all, it was not unusual for people to look at her. She inquired and found that Mrs. Porter Mason had not returned.

She went to her private sitting room and saw on the table where she had thrown it the previous night when she came in Mrs. Porter Mason's fan.

Rather a curious and old fashioned fan and a real triumph of the fan maker's art. That no doubt was why Mrs. Mason carried it. She picked it up idly.

Attached to the fan was a little silk bag just large enough to contain a powderpuff and a handkerchief.

Hardly realizing what she was doing she proceeded to empty the little silk bag. If she had stopped to think she would not have done it. There was a handkerchief, a glove, a powder puff and one of the same little round boxes which she used herself. At the bottom of the bag there was something which felt like a string of beads. She drew it out.

It was a necklace of diamonds.

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Breathes Easily

I DID not need Mr. Hasbrouck's assurance that he and his friend Mr. Train were having the time of their lives in assisting us to escape the espionage of the private detective who for purposes unknown had trailed us to the Catskills. The faces of both men were shining like those of schoolboys and that oldest instinct of all the zest of outwitting an opponent was in their eyes.

"Your interest makes it very pleasant for me, nevertheless," I told them. "And so you saw the man finally start for New York."

"Yes," Mr. Hasbrouck replied. "After Ed reported about the fellow's going around to the hotels, I knew it was only a waiting game. He'd never find you, even if by chance he found out where the Trains lived. Your car is locked up in the garage back here and what he'd get out of the Trains would be plenty—that he wouldn't want to hear. And the chances were all against his finding Train. So Ed and I watched both streets, this one to the ferry and the one to the bridge, and I got my friend at the ferry again and gave him an earful. So when our man in the black roadster came back in time for the next ferry my friend was ready for him and gave him a song and dance about somebody else taking his place for a few minutes at the ferry before and that he had found out a blue sedan with three women in it had gone on board while he was absent from his post. My friend at the ferry is an awful good scout and he sent word to the fellow on the other side of Rhinecliff that if the black roadster chap buzzed him about the blue sedan he was to say he didn't remember distinctly but he thought such a car had gone down the river road.

"Ed was watching things like a hawk and when the man finally was safe on board Ed wheeled into line too. He'll tail him without the man suspecting a thing. I'll bet a dollar and he won't telephone unless he loses him. So no news will be good news, and you'll be able to go back to your nap, Mrs. Graham, until we hear from Ed."

A Wire to Harry

"Not I," I told him emphatically. "I'm so glad that Mrs. Underwood and my niece didn't waken, for they need the sleep and I don't need them. But I shall have to do some long distance telephoning. May I use your phone and will you keep track of the calls?"

"Of course," Mr. Train rejoined, adding solicitously—"But I am afraid you need sleep as much as the others do. You look very tired."

"I am tired," I admitted, "but I am very strong and I can make up sleep very easily. So there is no use of my trying to nap any more. If you don't mind I'll telephone now."

"Is it imperative that you do it within the next hour?" Mr. Train asked.

"No, an hour's delay will not matter," I said, "if I can send a telegram immediately."

"Surely," he replied. "The reason I thought you'd better delay the telephoning is to keep the telephone clear for an hour to see if Ed telephones. But you can phone your telegram from here. That will not take long."

"Thank you. Will you excuse me, please, while I write?"

I took from my bag a pencil and a piece of blank paper and framed a telegram to Harry Underwood at the hotel in New York.

"Please stay at hotel today that I may keep in touch with you. Safe, everybody well but black roadster in offing delaying our return. Will phone you later. M. G."

Renewed Energy

Mr. Train held out his hand for the paper as I rose.

"If you do not mind I am more used to these phones up here," he said. "I can get through quicker."

"Thank you so much," I replied meekly, and was glad Mary's keen eyes were not watching this second "putting me in my place," as she would have expressed it.

But I had no fault to find with the efficient manner in which he put the telegram through and asked for a report on its cost. When he handed me back the paper, he had jotted down the figures.

"You can keep track of these," he said tactfully, and then he drew a big armchair to the window.

"If you can't sleep you can at least rest," he said in kindly fashion. "This chair is much more comfortable than the one you have. You can even doze in it if you wish. I'll promise to call you in an hour. Will you excuse us now?"

Mr. Hasbrouck followed him from the room.

I leaned back against those soft cushions, closed my eyes to relieve a smarting sensation which had been troubling me since my drive of the morning, and opened them an instant later, as I thought, to see Mrs. Train's pleasant face bending over me.

"Mr. Train sent me in to waken you," she said with pretty primness. "He said he promised you should telephone in an hour."

A Long Time Investment

Is what you receive when buying Jackson fence. It costs no more to stretch a good fence than a poor one, why not have the best. The saving of a few pennies, on initial cost in buying a light weight, poorly made fence proves expensive in the end. Such a fence soon becomes saggy, shabby, breaks, falls and requires early replacement. Buy a fence that gives long life and satisfaction.

Jackson Stiff Stay Fence

is the one fence on the market today that positively fulfills this claim, because it is the only line on the market with the combined Spiral and Flat Wave, made of Guaranteed Full Gauge Hard-Drawn Wire—galvanizing of Pure Commercial Zinc, all cross-bars, knots and laterals same size wire—a fence that is remarkably strong—extremely rigid, affording the utmost protection, not affected by rain, snow or cold—won't sag, rust or corrode, easily adjusts itself to uneven ground, economically erected, wears indefinitely—always retaining its shape and successfully resisting the most severe kicks and knocks of hard usage.

George Simpson Turns in 9.6 Century Run in First Dual Meet of Year.

BY LATHROP MACK
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, April 16—George Simpson, Ohio State's demon of the 100-yard dash, is apparently on his way to another series of triumphs on America's outdoor tracks.

Simpson opened his 1930 campaign yesterday with two fast and decisive victories over the sprinters of Ohio Wesleyan university in a dual meet at Delaware. He worked as hard as ever to win the century dash in 9.6 seconds—near record time—but in the 220-yard dash he ran in a drizzle against a cold wind and was caught in 21.6, one second slower than the world record he has tied twice.

George was pressed in the 100 but won by five or six feet from Norman Lambacher of Wesleyan.

The Buckeye sprinter's work was impressive.

The entire Ohio State team, which this year will defend the national collegiate team title, behaved well winning its first outdoor meet of the year by 101 1-6 points to 24 5-6. The Bucks won all 11 events and took six seconds, with another tie for second, and 11 thirds.

EXPERTS RIGHT FOR AT LEAST ONE DAY

Favorites in Both Leagues Come Through on First Day To Win Games.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, April 16—One day old and just starting to prattle glibly for its public, the 1930 ball season was only a brat on its mother's knee this morning, yet certain inherited tendencies were beginning to break through the wall of natural reserve that one so young is bound to present to the world. The two best ball clubs in the two best leagues, for one thing, were out in front, thus sustaining the experts, pro tem. A camel can go eight days without water but 24 hours is a long time to sustain an expert.

For another thing, the suspicion that the New York Giants are liable to win no pennants in a very marked manner was emphasized during the day of inaugural. So was the class of the world's champion Athletics: also the hitting of the league-champion Cubs.

The Athletics followed the first principles of success, which says, "beat the good ones." They beat the best one they could find, which happened to be the ex-champion Yankees, 6 to 2. This was mere routine to Mr. Cornelius Mack's ball club which spent a large part of last year in beating the ex-champion Yankees, thus acquiring a pennant. The Athletics looked very good behind their ace-pitcher, Mr. Lefthand Grove.

Simmons Signs

Mr. Simmons, their ace-outfielder, signed a contract 10 minutes before the game and then hit a home run off Pipgras in 10 seconds flat, giving the club a two run lead in the first inning. The Yanks tied it in the third, then the champion went on and won again. These insistent ball clubs are hard to convince; this ought to take at least another year, as a matter of fact.

The Cubs got 10 cents worth of pitching but a million dollars worth of hitting, so at least this part of it was not unlike 1929, either. They got out in front of the Cards and stayed there to win by 9 to 8, Rhem having nothing except his 1926 record. Poor old doddering Hornsby made only two hits and all he could do was handle four chances perfectly. Hartnett's arm was so bad that he was utterly incapable of throwing out two men until some time after they had started.

As for the Giants, they merely resumed the business of beating the Braves in the customary manner, this time in the ninth, 3 to 2. Even when winning, the club didn't look good. It seemed to lack assurance, cohesion. It appeared at times that all the Braves had to do was hit one in the air and keep running. Marshall, the new second baseman, was plausible in his debut but Roettger did nothing except throw one resolutely against the stands on a play at the plate. Meantime, Fisher, one of the men used in the Roettger trade, had blown himself to four hits.

Al Steals Show

Simmons, of course, stole the show from Ruth over in Philadelphia, although the latter achieved the unique by stretching a home run into two bases. His drive was about to clear the fence, when it smote one of the park's loud speakers right on the larynx and returned to the playing field. In the same inning Lazzeri deemed the side to have been retired and tossed the ball in the general direction of nowhere. Whereupon Koenig hastened to retrieve it and gallantly chased a base runner, who already had been declared out. Apparently the Athletics didn't have to win this ball game; the Yanks lost it.

The National league furnished most of the competition, each of its four games decided on the basis of one-run finishes. The Pirates, for instance, lasted to the wire to beat the Reds, 7 to 6, proving that their punch isn't anybody's caress, even with Traynor and L. Waner out of action. As for the Phillies' reputed punch, it was like an overcoat that somebody has permanently borrowed. It wasn't there. The Phils got only seven hits off Clark but these were enough to beat the Dodgers, 1 to 0, because the thing the Phils weren't supposed to have, namely pitching, was exactly the thing they got from Sweetland. He stopped the Dodgers with three hits and won his own ball game with a double. He didn't cover much ground out in right field, however.

Boston Loses 6-1

The Senators also got a three hit game from some kid pitcher named Brown, thus restoring the Red Sox to some semblance of order. They lost the game in their old form, 6 to 1, and now, with a percentage of .500, they are ready to go in either direction at a moment's notice. They can be depended upon to pick the proper direction with unerring skill. They got as good pitching from Ruffing, however, as the Reds got from Lucas, their star, the latter being unable to get the other boys out. So the Reds' new-found punch was wasted, Meusel getting three hits and Heilmann two in their first whirl at National league pitching.

The Tigers got away running with a 6 to 3 decision over the Browns, each of the latter's runs resulting from homers of Gullic, Kress and Schulte, the last two coming in succession in the seventh, thereby prompting Uhle's retreat. That "hitting them where they ain't." Also "when they ain't"—meaning, on the bases.

CO-EDS PARTICIPATE IN SPORTS PROGRAM

Ohio State University Girls May Take Part in Nine Branches of Athletics.

Special To The Star

COLUMBUS, O., April 16—Men are not the only persons active in sports at Ohio State University. This is shown by the athletic program mapped out for co-eds for the spring quarter.

Nine sports, including archery, golf, baseball, field and track, dancing, riding, swimming, horseshoe pitching, and tennis are offered by the women's intramural department. At the end of the quarter all co-ed athletes will be brought together in the annual field and track meet sponsored by the intramural department.

Numerous clubs exist for girls interested in sports on the campus. Riding is promoted by the boot and saddle club and membership may be obtained if certain riding tests are passed. Girls interested in archery are eligible to tryout for the archery club.

More than 1,000 co-eds took part in intramural sports last spring.

ASSOCIATION FIGHT MAY BE SCRAMBLE

Opening Day Battles Presage No Walkaway Victory For Any Team.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 16—This season's American Association pennant scramble will be no walkaway for last year's leaders if results of opening games count for anything. The Columbus Senators, long time occupants of second division, displayed real batting ability behind stellar hurling by Dutch Kemner to jolt St. Paul, 8 to 2.

Milwaukee was the only one of last year's underdogs to drop an opener yesterday, losing to Louisville, 11 to 2. The Kansas City champions were humbled by Indianapolis, 3 to 2, while Minneapolis, another of the stronger teams, went down to defeat at the hands of the lowly Toledo Mudhens, 9 to 1.

STATE MEETS WESLEYAN

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., April 16—Ohio Wesleyan will seek this afternoon to even up for the baseball defeat inflicted at Columbus last week by Ohio State's nine. State yesterday rang up its fifth triumph in six starts by thumping the University of Kentucky for the third time in four games, 10 to 6.

KENTUCKY DEFEATED BY OHIO STATE NINE THIRD TIME IN ROW

Five-Run Rally in Seventh Cinches Fifth Straight Victory for Ohioans.

Ohio State's snappy baseball team made it three in a row over the University of Kentucky club by taking yesterday's game from the Colonels, 10 to 5. The win makes the fifth straight for the Columbus team. They will travel to Delaware today to engage the Ohio Wesleyan nine, which they have already beaten once this year.

A five-run rally in the seventh frame, started by a booming triple off the bat of Tommy Stull, Ohio shortstop, caused the downfall of the Kentuckians. Bill Hinchman helped things along when he knocked one out of the park to score two men ahead of him.

[illegible] started the game on the mound for Ohio with [illegible] behind the bat. The moundsman lost control during the fourth inning and was replaced by Kermode, who finished the game.

Massillon Baseball Team Wants Week-End Games

Managers wishing to book games with this team are asked to get in touch with Manager C. N. Clapper. He may be reached by calling 315, or by writing 12 Burton st. N. W., Massillon, O.

nd Prices p Irregularly

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 16 — Bond dropped irregularly in today's which gave signs of increasing thinness. Money remained firm.

Offering of a $41,294,000 block of Southern Pacific Oregon Lines first mortgage 4½s tended to distract attention from the listed investment rails. A good inquiry was reported for the new bonds, priced at 97½, and the subscription books were closed soon after the opening.

Union Pacific first 4s and International Great Northern first 5s were heavy on odd lot sales. St. Paul General 4s met with selling which whittled nearly a point from the previous closing price, while the same road's income 5s dipped to a new 1930 low on another small recession. Changes on the upside included gains of half to about a point in Rio Grande Western Collateral 4s, Canadian National 5s and Delaware & Hudson 4s.

Utilities and Industrials were dull. Otis Steel 65 touched 104, a new high, on a small early purchase.

RAILROADS DENY RATES EXCESSIVE

File Answer to Complaint That Rates From Marion Are Too High.

Norfolk & Western railway, and Wheeling & Lake Erie railway today entered a general denial of the complaint of Charles H. Langdon before the utilities commission claiming unfairness on rates on amiesite shipped from Marion.

Langdon, doing business as Amiesite Products, a company manufacturing road building material, filed a complaint against the Pennsylvania railroad and 20 other steam carriers relative to freight rates from this city.

A manufacturing plant for amiesite and other asphaltic products is now under construction at the Ohio Blue Limestone Co. quarries here. The complaint against freight rates was filed after it was definitely known the plant would be located here.

Coast Guard Boats Out in Search for Aviator

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 16 — Coast guard boats were ordered out today to drag the ocean bottom at the mouth of Gravesend bay in an attempt to learn the fate of Ralph White, student pilot, who disappeared Sunday.

Capt. Lewis E. Yancy, navigator of the New York-to-Rome, and the New York-to-Bermuda flights, located an oil spot on the ocean yesterday, at Gravesend bay, which he said he believed indicated that the missing plane and its pilot went down there. Witnesses said a plane was seen to dip to the surface of the bay in the vicinity where the oil spot was located.

The flier disappeared Sunday in a heavy fog which enveloped Long Island airports and emergency landing fields.

Waterfront in Toledo Damaged by High Water

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, April 16—Driven by sharp northeast winds, Lake Erie and Maumee bay were bulging over their banks today causing extensive damage to property.

The water began to come in late yesterday and reached its highest stage between 6 and 11 p. m. when many buildings were awash and waves were smashing over breakwaters. The water subsided slightly during the early hours of this morning, but at 8:30 a. m. it appeared to be getting higher.

The fishing industry was at a standstill and fishermen feared that the high, rough water may have caused extensive damage to nets. It also was necessary to suspend all outside construction work on the dock development at Presque Isle because of the high water.

When farming has to depend on congress, it is dragging its anchors.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HOLD FAMILY NIGHT

Forest Lawn Church Sponsors Special Program Tonight in Revival Service.

Family night will be celebrated at Forest Lawn Presbyterian church tonight, and as a part of the services, the Rev. Don R. Falkenberg, visiting minister and chaplain of station WAIU, will present a family Bible to the largest family in attendance. Tonight will also be children's night.

Last night the Rev. Mr. Falkenberg, who is in Marion for a week's services at the east end church, emphasized the point of forgiveness in his sermon.

He said in part:

"The most emphasized phrase in the prayer of our Lord which He taught to His disciples was the one dealing with forgiveness. After He had given the words of the prayer he mentioned most emphatically: 'For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your Heavenly Father will also forgive you. But if ye forgive not their trespasses, neither will your Heavenly Father forgive your trespasses.'

"Thus it is that God clearly tells us that if we refuse to forgive a fellowman a small injury, comparable to a small amount, then God will withdraw and withhold from man the forgiveness all ready accorded to him in an amount like unto 10 millions of dollars."

Mrs. Falkenberg will sing a unique song, "Jonah," tonight, with guitar accompaniment. She is addressing the girls and the Rev. Mr. Falkenberg is talking to the boys in special services for young people at 7 o'clock each night.

WHEAT KEEPS UP ADVANCES

New Gains Are Scored in Chicago Pit as Dry Weather Continues.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 16—Owing largely to reports that big producing sections of Kansas still were suffering from lack of moisture, wheat values took an early upward swing today. Talk was current that unless general soaking rains were received before May 1 Kansas might not raise 100,000,000 bushels compared with 158,000,000 bushels last year. Opening ⅛@1⅛ higher, wheat afterward scored additional gains and then reacted somewhat. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firmer, with corn starting ⅜@⅝ up and holding steady.

Much wheat buying was for traders who had overreached themselves in selling yesterday on account of late reports of rains southwest. Contributing also to the strength of wheat values was a forecast that Argentina would ship only 1,727,000 bushels of wheat this week as against 4,065,000 bushels cleared from Argentina last week. There also were indications that export demands for wheat from North America had improved and that overnight purchases for Europe amounted to 750,000 bushels, including some United States hard winter wheat and durums.

An important factor in the wheat market was the circumstance that prices were 10c a bushel lower than last week, and that with parts of the wheat belt yet devoid of moisture many traders showed a disposition to go slow in selling. Due notice also was taken that holidays ahead made unusual caution desirable. On the other hand, Nebraska today reported fresh general rains, and there were also reports of favorable progress of sping wheat seeding northwest.

Throngs Cheer as Graf Circles Over Seville

By The Associated Press

SEVILLE, Spain, April 16 — The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, carrying 20 passengers on a cruise from Friedrichshafen to Seville and return, circled repeatedly over the city today to the cheers of enthusiastic crowds.

After circling Seville several times, the Graf headed toward Cadiz but was to return to Seville again. King Alfonso sent radio greetings to the Zeppelin while it was over the city.

It was not definitely decided whether the Zeppelin should land or, after cruising over the region, head back to Germany.

Weather reports were being received by the Zeppelin and it was dependent upon these whether the dirigible would land or would lose no time starting for home.

JUSTICE'S TACTICS DRAW OPPOSITION

Delaware Citizens' Committee Investigates School Bus Law Enforcement.

With business interests in Delaware alleged to be suffering immeasurably from the so-called "unreasonable" enforcement of the school bus law there by a constable and Justice Guy E. Caylor, a citizen committee of that city has attempted to intervene, with apparently little result.

According to dispatches from the Ohio State Automobile association, publicity given the almost trap-like condition existing in Delaware and vicinity has caused hundreds of motorists to avoid Delaware in trips to southern Ohio cities.

The citizens committee recently invited Caylor to appear before it, but his attitude was one of determined law enforcement, the dispatch says.

The dispatch further says: "On the other hand, the feeling exists in Delaware that the justice of peace is personally interested in this particular variety of law enforcement because of the revenue in the way of fees that it brings to himself and his constable."

VETERANS TO DRIVE FOR MORE MEMBERS

Marion Chapter No. 22, D. A. V., Holds Meeting in Legion Dugout.

Plans were discussed for a combined service-membership campaign in Marion and vicinity at the meeting of members of Marion Chapter No. 22, Disabled American Veterans of the World War last night in the Legion dugout.

Reports on a recent survey of eligible disabled veterans showed a potential membership of about 200 for the local organization. The meeting which was an enthusiastic one brought out a number of interesting facts and statistics. Surveys made by the Veterans bureau showed decisions in claims of disabled veterans totaled more than 15,000 for the year a gain of eight per cent over the second last fiscal year. Of the thousands in government hospitals many receive no compensation and many have valid claims which will be allowed if properly prepared and presented, reports show.

The need for a wide-awake and cooperative organization was emphasized in talks by the members and prospects for chapter and community cooperation were discussed. Persons interested in the activities of the chapter are requested to get in touch with Dr J W McMurray commander or Adjutant R Vernon Price 488 Wilson av.

INDIANS DISPLEASED IN MARCHAND CASE

Hold Powwow To Demand Fair Treatment in Handling of Murder Trial.

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 16—The council of the Seneca Nation of Indians at a pow wow at Salamanca which ended this morning expressed dissatisfaction over the manner in which the recent Marchand murder case was handled.

The Indians held no briefs for Nancy Bowen, the old woman who hammered the Buffalo artist's wife to death or Lila Jimerson, the Cayuga spinster who pleaded guilty to second degree murder before her case went to the jury but were emphatic in their conviction that all the evidence in the case was not uncovered and all the guilty parties not brought to justice.

Only Nancy Bowen still is in jail awaiting trial which is expected to start in about two weeks. Robert P [illegible] Galloway, her counsel, was at the council meeting by request.

"The reputation of our whole people is at stake and if the whole story has not been told we think in fairness to all it should be," Clerk Adlai Williams declared.
